HE SUCCUMBS TO DISEASE THIS MORNING.

Sketch of a Useful and Honorable Life Largely Spent on the Hawaiian Islands.

Hon. J. S. Walker died at his resi dence on Nuuanu Avenue, of aneur ism at about 8 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Walker has been ill for some months and several times a fatal termination has been feared. Mrs. E. Faxton the best classes of society in Honolulu, to annexation, but adds that he will Bishop his daughter had been sent for from San Francisco and is expected or the next steamer.

The following outline, therefore, of this gen tleman's active career will be of in

John Smith Walker was a native of Scotland, where, at Aberdeen, in the year 1826, he first saw the light of day There he received a good education and being of too ambitious a tempera slow going customs of the old country he set sail for America at the age of seventeen, and landed in Quebec Canada, in 1842, with a liberal endow ment of brains, energy, and enterprise as his principal capital. From Canada Mr. Walker proceeded to Wisconsin where in company with Mr. John Center, now of San Francisco, he be gan prospecting and lead mining, which occupation he followed with varied success, in one way and another, and were large bouquets of flowers. both in Wisconsin and at Galena, Itl. Mr. Walker, together with a party from Wisconsin, began the arduous and dangerous trip across the plains, via St. Joseph, Mo., to the gold fields of the August of that year. After a short stay and fidelity of the American soldier. permit the Provisional authorities to go in Sacramento, the subject of this sketch proceeded, in 1852, to Marysville, business, which he continued success- ercises. fully until 1854. During the hardships and privations of the trip across the continent, Mr. Walker had contracted Battery D Has Target Practice at Katinued at intervals to suffer during his entire stay in Calfornia, the climate of and business acquaintences in San Francisco who were engaged in the afternoon. During the first few months of his stay here, he was offered, and accepted. a temporary position as bookkeeper with the firm of Hackfeld & Co., which he held for nearly a year. He then entered the employ in a like capacity of Thos. This was the beginning for Mr. Walker of a long and active mercantile career. He was afterwards a member of several firms of prominence, and devoted his entire attentions to commercial affairs until 1874, when he was appointed Minister of Finance in Kalakaua's Cabinet. This office he held until 1876, when he and Col. Z. S. Spaulding became members of the firm of W. G. Irwin & Co., which was established that year, and which partnership continued until 1880. It was then dissolved, W. G. Irwin becoming associated with Claus Spreckels, and Mr. Walker being again appointed to interim.

During his four years' incumbency which followed, much responsibility rested with the subject of his sketch. For a part of the time he actually held two of the portfolios, and hence may almost be said to have handled the reins of government during that period. In 1886 Mr. Walker was appointed Auditor-General by the King and the life tenure; but, not considering himself justified in sacrificing his entire time for a salary, he resigned on January 1, 1887. Since that time, Mr. Walker refused to accept any political office that would occupy his entire time. He had, however, been a mem ber of the Legislature since then; and in fact, may be said to have held a seat in the halls of that bady during most of the sessions for the past fourteen years.
